Notes for Eugene Duffy (Sims) Mason:

General Notes:

My name is Diane Wells and Eugene Duffy Mason was my grandfather.

Unfortunately, I know very little about him and would love to find out what

I can. I know that he was adopted from the McPherson Orphanage in Pueblo, Colorado; I remember hearing a story about him running away from home when he was a teenager; and, there was also some tale about him living in Lake City, Colorado and working as a fishing guide when he was a young man.

Eugene Duff (Sims) Mason was born in Pittsburgh, Kansas, on Oct. 12, 1904. Evidently his parents were unable to take care of him and he was placed in the Pueblo orphanage. He was adopted by Anna and Charley Mason in 1910 and was raised on the ranch at Hermit Lakes. In his early twenties, Gene married Helen Cathcart from Creede. He and Helen had two children but their marriage did not work out and they were eventually divorced. On June 5, 1940, Gene married Mildred by whom he also had two children. He died on July 10, 1984 in Crawford, Nebraska, where his widow, Mildred still lives.

Even though Gene had a less than perfect start as a child, being an orphan, the training he received from his adoptive parents held him in good stead and he became one of the country's top trout experts working for the U.S. Bureau of Fisheries. The headline in an article written about Gene in 1963 states, "Top U.S. Fish Expert Heads Great Lakes Trout Program." This program was just one of many Gene carried out successfully for the U.S.
